

The Gospel of Jesus

Jesus came, Jesus came
And he showed us how to live with love and mercy, living God's truth.
Jesus came, Jesus came
And He showed us by example we may live and truly be free
Angels came to sing His glory to the shepherds in the field
And an angel brought the message of God's peace for all mankind.
Jesus came, Jesus came.

Much in pain, much in pain
In Gethsemane He struggled with His fear and mortal anguish
Much in pain, much in pain
wide awake He prayed for power from above
To obey God's will In His hour, so filled with anguish
Came an angel in reply God gives new resolve to Jesus and the will to carry on.
Much in pain, much in pain

Jesus died, Jesus died
Lamb of God that was for sinners slain. He freely laid His life down
Jesus died, Jesus died
To defeat our ancient foe who brings us sin and death eternal.
And the heaven was not open, Jesus' time had not yet come.
But the angels jubilated when He said: "My task is done"
Jesus died, Jesus died.

Jesus lives, Jesus lives!
He has spoken to the death-squads with His mighty voice and power.
Jesus lives, Jesus lives!
All their might He has defeated and their powers now are broken.
God in heaven gave the password for the soldiers at the tomb.
And the angels rolled the big stone from the entrance of the tomb.
Jesus lives, Jesus lives!

Jesus comes, Jesus comes,
As the Lord of all the nations for Whom all mankind will kneel down.
Jesus comes, Jesus comes
As the King of all believers who will jubilantly greet Him.
Then the heavens will be opened and our King will lead us in.
And the angel calls the names then that are written in His book.
Jesus comes, Jesus comes!

English lyrics: Adrian Vermeulen-Miller
© Unisong Music Publishers, Hilversum, Holland