

Remember

An upper room a simple place,
A table in a quiet space;
A cup of wine, a loaf of bread, said,
"I offer you bread; I offer you wine.
I soon offer up this life that is Mine.
Remember Me then;
remember this, too:
Remember to serve
as I have served you."

A broken loaf, an empty cup;
a feast complete, the hour was up.
A simple hymn a sad refrain;
His words return again and again.
"I offer you bread; I offer you wine.
I soon offer up this life that is Mine.
Remember Me then;
remember this, too:
Remember to serve
as I have served you."

"I offer you bread;
I offer you wine.
I soon offer up I offer up what is Mine
this life that is Mine.
Remember Me then;
remember this, too:
Remember to serve
as I have served you."
Remember to serve
as I have served you."

So eat of this bread.
and drink of this wine.
He offered His life His life for yours and for mine.
for your and for mine.
Remember Him now.
remember this, too:
Remember to serve as He served us too.
Remember to serve as He served us too.*

Larry Shackley
© 2010 Lorenz Publishing Company (Adm. by Smallstonemediasongs.com)

* Use alternate lyric if communion will be served following this anthem.